Political Systems:
The Modern/Colonial/Capitalist World System

Modern World System

- Kottak
  - A system defined by the economic and political interdependence of the nations of the world.

When did the Modern World System emerge?

- Prior to the existence of nation-states
- 15th-16th century expeditions from W. Europe to Asia, África and the "New World".
- Extraction of gold, silver and other resources… shipment of riches back to Europe.
- Forced labor
  - enslaved Africans and Native Americans
  - indentured servitude
When did the Modern World System emerge?

- Trans-Atlantic slave trade
- Plantation economies
  - mono-crop production
    - Sugar
    - Cotton
- International markets emerge for products

Capitalist World Economy

- Single world system committed to production for sale or exchange, with the object of maximizing profits rather than supplying domestic needs.

Metropoles and Colonies

- Metropole or Metropolitan State
  - State that politically controls a geographically-distant territory
- Colony
  - Territory under the immediate political control of a geographically-distant state
Colonialism

- Domination by a distant sovereign state over the resources, labor and market of another territory.
- May impose socio-cultural, religious and linguistic dominance.
- Based on the belief that the values, norms and beliefs of the colonizer is superior to those of the colonized (linked to ethnocentrism and racism)

4 Types of Colonies

- Settler
- Dependencies
- Large Scale Colonial Settlement in Pre-populated Areas
- Plantation Colonies

Settler

- Emigration of people from a metropole
- Involved the displacement of native populations
Dependencies

• Colonizers arrived not as emigrants but foremost as administrators over native populations and access/control of resources.

Large Scale Colonial Settlement in Pre-populated Areas

• Resulting in either ‘mestizo’ mixed societies or racially divided societies.

Plantation Colonies

• White colonizers imported black slaves who began to outnumber the whites – minority rule similar to dependencies.
Effects of colonialism

- Political
- Economic
- Social
- Cultural
- The colonies were transformed but so were the metropoles.

Industrialization

- The development of industry on a grand scale
  - happened first in the metropoles.
- After industrialization, colonies consumed staples from ‘Mother’ country/metropole.

From Colony to Independence

- India
  - United Kingdom
  - 1858-1947
- Taiwan
  - Japan
  - 1895-1945
- Philippines
  - United States
  - 1898-1946
De-Colonization

• Independence by a number of western colonies and protectorates in Asia following World War II
  – especially during 1945-1968

Modern World System

• A system defined by the economic and political interdependence of the nations of the world
• Though today does not have the same colonial relations of past, arguably there is greater economic and political interdependence of nations

Core, Semiperiphery & Periphery

• Core
  – the dominant economic and political position in the world system
• Semiperiphery
  – Intermediate position
  – Industrializing
    • lack power and economic dominance of core nations.
• Periphery
  – Produce raw materials
  – supply cheap labor, agricultural commodities
  – export cheap labor
  – may lack technology
  – may have weak governments;
Dependency theory
- Periphery countries are dependent upon more developed countries
- Exploitation of periphery countries may be what maintains the dominance of the core countries

Modern/Colonial/Capitalist World System
- Explicitly names capitalism as the dominant economic system of the world system.
- Contemporary links between specific colonial era Core and Periphery relations still maintained today.
- New Core and Periphery relations mimic colonial era relations.

Modern Colonial/Capitalist World System
- Beyond political and economic dominance,
  - emphasizes cultural dominance
- Continued maintenance at home of colonial racial-ethnic hierarchy
Modern Colonial/Capitalist World System

- Historical colonial ‘centers’ are the choice of destination for much current migration
  - ex. France, England
- The racial-ethnic hierarchies that migrants are placed into today extend from colonial structures of inequality
